West End Market Suffers Heavy Loss In Early Morning Fire

Extensive property damage was done to West End Market during a fire here last Wednesday night. Despite 30 below weather and hydrant trouble, the local volunteer fire brigade managed to save the building, greatest loss being to stock and equipment.

The alarm sounded at approximately 3:00 a.m. and was promptly answered by the local brigade. Some time was lost when a seized hydrant by Salus store prevented getting water on the fire. A second line was strung to the hydrant further west. Firemen fought the blaze until 7:00 a.m.

In a report released to the dailies, the fire was reported by Dave MacDonald who noticed the flames while returning from work. This report stated that the loss was estimated at $30,000 dollars and covered by insurance. At time of writing, The Journal has not been able to verify this statement or to determine Mr. Bublins's plans for the future.

Thirty below zero at 3:00 a.m. watching firemen battling with frozen equipment and attempting to save a building makes us wonder just how many of us would like to be a fireman.

A volunteer fireman doesn't work an eight hour shift, playing checkers in a fire hall waiting for a call to work. A volunteer fireman is a man that spends an evening a week practicing to save your home. He is a man that works for you or your friend or owns his own business that requires at least eight hours every day. When the siren sounds he must leave his warm bed, dress hastily (and often scantily) and get down to the firehall as quickly as possible.

Arriving at the fire scene he faces frozen hydrants, and petty criticism at the least. If the fire is extreme he can suffer loss of clothing, injuries or loss of life. . . all this for a wage that is no doubt lower than you and I get for an hour's pay during safe daylight hours.

At the first of the week J Salus, owner of the building, stated that nothing had been done by adjusters at that time due to adverse weather conditions. Mr. Salus has no plans at this time for the building.

MUNICIPAL NOMINATIONS WILL BE HELD FEB. 15

Just as the snow has piled up around town this past week or so, snow problems have appeared to pile up and plague the town council. This matter of snow removal demanded the attention of Mayor Abousafy, and councillors Ramsay, Wood, Toppino and Dibblee for the greater part of the two and one half hour session. Trustee Holly waited on council regarding the school board's snow problem.

To open discussion, two letters were read from the school board, one asking that the town see to the removal of snow from the school walks and bill the school board for costs. The second letter protested the action of snow removal crews in not clearing a place for the children getting from the bus onto the sidewalk, or for providing a place for the bus to turn at both Central and Cameron school.

Town foreman Joe Malanchuk explained that he was getting as close to the walks as possible with the plow without pushing the snow back on to the walks, a matter that had drawn a complaint from the school a few weeks ago.

Councillors could not see why the bus should turn in the middle of a block anyway, this posing a traffic threat and dangerous to the occupants of the bus. It was pointed out that the bus could proceed up the hill to Kennedy's corner and turn there, or in the case of Cameron School, proceed a little further and turn where Dench, private trucks and the town plow have been turning. Furthermore, council asked the school delegate, why signs were removed from Second street to their present location without consulting the town. The present stopping point is located in an area that is covered with water every spring and is therefore not the ideal spot. The school delegate replied that this move was made to allow the children a quick entry to the warm basement of the school whereas unloading at the front interfered with the High school.

Council felt that the school should consider the bus stop back to Second street and showed that the stop could be east or west of the main entrance and the children cut across the school yard to get to their classes.

It was agreed between the council and the delegate that the matter should not have been brought up by the Janitors going to the town foreman, but should have been presented to the school board who in turn could have got in touch with council. School board acted on the basis of the Janitors' report that co-operation was not forthcoming, whereas the foreman stated emphatically that he had never been approached.

It was agreed that the town crews would see to the cleaning of sidewalks, while the matter of clearing space for the bus will be handled by the Public Works Department.

The local branch U.M.W.A. applied for council's permission to apply for a license permitting them to rent their hall for dances and other functions, and to sell cigarettes and confections. This approval was granted.

Insurance on the skating rink came up again with quotations from the various firms. The secretary was instructed to obtain further information.

Winter's worries cropped up for a second time with the council hearing various sides of the problem of snow removal for widows, elderly people, and public services. The matter proves to be without solution, although it was felt that the police car should be supplied with a block heater in order that it is ready for any emergency.

Another matter that seems to trouble council is many problems as the snow is the government and the new highway running through town. It was brought up that the government had promised that snow would be pushed off the roads and down into the gully so that it did not drain into homes. A second matter was the danger that

Legion Campaign For Polio Fund Starts Mon. Feb. 1

Coleman Branch of the Canadian Legion will be canvassing the town and district for funds to help combat polio in the province.

A door to door visit will be made and it is hoped everyone will freely contribute to this very urgent and worth while appeal. Sums of one dollar and above will merit a receipt which may be used for income tax purposes.

All organizations societies, lodges, and religious denominations are asked to support this campaign by making it widely known among their members.

Ten percent of contributions will go to the Dominion Polio Foundation, the remaining ninety percent will be spent in Alberta to assist in the care of polio victims.

The canvass will start Mon. Feb. 1, and it is hoped that it can be completed by Feb. 6th and a financial report issued the following week.

The new road has created in making it possible for a car to slide off the road and down into the gully. It was decided that these matters would be brought to the government attention, a letter to be dispatched to Mr. Hanrahan and Mr. Bradley.

Nominations February 15

Secretary announced that nominations would be held on February 15. The election is necessary to be held two weeks later. J. Parks was appointed returning officer.

Completing their term of office this year are Mayor Abousafy and councillors Wood and Ramsay.

Set Rites For Coleman Woman

COLEMAN — Requiem High Mass was celebrated in the Holy Ghost Catholic church in Coleman at 10 a.m. on Friday, January 22, for Mrs. Annie Duurek, 38, who passed away in the Crow's Nest Pass Memorial hospital, January 16. Interment followed in the Holy Ghost Catholic cemetery. The Rev. Dean L. Sullivan of Coleman, officiated.

Prayers were said at the family home at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, January 21.

Surviving are her husband Frank, and one son Steve at Coleman, another son Frank, with the American Air Force, a daughter Alice at Vancouver, and her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Harry of Coleman. She was predeceased by her father, John Kapelka, at Coleman a number of years ago.

Former Pass Resident, Dies In Calgary

A resident of the Crows Nest Pass area for many years, Eric McMullen, 65, died in Calgary after a lengthy illness.

Mr. McMullen's parents moved to Lundbreck in 1919, the year he was born, and he grew up there and in Coleman. He made his home in Coleman until 1941, when he enlisted in the Canadian army. He returned to Canada in 1945 and lived in Coleman until the following year, when he moved to Montgomery, just outside of Calgary.

Telegraph Service Curtailed Feb. 1

According to word received the first of the week the night operators of the C.P.R. at Blaimore and Hillcrest and the assistant night operator at Coleman, will be laid off effective February 1st.

This latest move on the part of the C.P.R. will make it impossible for local residents to send or receive telegraph messages between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Meeting Endorses Petition For Right To Vote

Despite the near blizzard conditions and knee-deep snow, approximately 50 Coleman residents with interest in education and their democratic rights, assembled at the public meeting Friday night. Held in the high school auditorium, the meeting was presided over by Chairman M. Cornett, and moved to petition the provincial government for the right to hold a plebiscite. Dr. Swift, Deputy Minister of Education, had reached Lethbridge, but was not able to make it to Coleman. Inspector McKay of Pincher Creek, and W. Kovach, M.L.A., of Hillcrest, were also unable to attend.

To open the meeting Chairman Cornett read the brief submitted by Coleman at the joint board meeting, and a petition that had been drawn up for the meeting's approval. The petition asked that we be allowed to vote for or against our inclusion in a school division in the Crows Nest Pass.

Open Session Shows Public Disapproval

Local residents took good advantage of the open meeting to determine a few important matters and clarify the position.

In answering the first question chairman Cornett stated that a great many people think that a central high school will be built immediately. However, before this could be done, a divisional board would have to be formed, and this could not be before fall. It would take half a million dollars to build and equip such a school. If the government thought that this area was capable of paying for it. It took Coleman half a year and a great deal of red tape to borrow $16,000 for the new two room addition to Cameron school.

John Grossko followed the chairman's remarks, drawing attention to the fact that the miners have always paid for education and never quibbled. Now with short time the high taxation is plenty without helping other centers build schools. Next thing they will want us to help them build an arena the speaker stated.

John Howarth asked the chairman why it was that Blaimore has been so lax during the past 10 years by not having equal schools or remodelling the present ones so as to have the same standard as Coleman. To this, the chairman replied that the only answer that he could give was that the people of Coleman have always been willing to pay high taxes for education.

Norman Ash rose at this point and stated that the entire problem has centered on the financial angle, whereas he figured this should not be the main item to consider in education. "Why", he asked, "when the board knew about the co-terminous boundary commission, did they wait until this late date to inform the public?" "I am in favor of your actions", he stated, "but I want to know why you did not tell the public about it before?"

The board replied that they met with the commission on October 28, but that they had not been given at that time any idea that the new boundaries were to be set up January 1. The matter of a school division had only come up since January. The board secretary had written the Minister asking for answers to questions that plagued the board. The only answer received was that a meeting with the boards and another with the public would be held to give these answers. It appears since that Blaimore or Bellevue did not have the facilities to hold this meeting, and with bad weather, the meeting fell through.

Trustee Holly further enlightened the meeting on this by recalling a public meeting a couple of years ago when Mr. Balfour told what was coming up. When we wrote to the department they weren't courteous enough to give us the answers. . . we didn't know anymore about it than you.

We have taken in the Lime Kilns and the power plant, Passburg and Frank could have been taken in by the other towns. We agree that Frank should have better service, but they try to run on a 11 mill tax rate. Coleman will get two members on the board and Frank 1. Look at the difference in population. You have half the voting power of the division and only two representatives on the board.

Steve Penney stated that it was a high handed way in the first place. When the board met with the commission they understood that the commission was just mapping the boundaries. We never figured they would go back to Edmonton and tell us in December that we would be part of a division.

Mrs. J. Wavrean asked what explanation did the government give for allowing Camrose to stay out of a division when they won't let Coleman. To this the chairman replied that without Coleman apparently the division could not be formed.

Replying to Mr. Ash's earlier question, the chairman stated that true, taxation matters had entered the decision. The board would like to see taxes lowered, but they won't be if the division goes through. As to benefits, he called upon H. Allen to give his views. Mr. Allen replied that the only benefits that he could see would be in the realm of shop, home economics and commercial classes. Apart from that he did not see how we would benefit a great deal.

Mr. Ash asked when and why the shop and home ec had been stopped in Coleman schools. Mr. Allen replied that they were stopped during the war chiefly to lack of teachers. Since this time the school population had increased and those rooms needed for classrooms.

Mayor Abousafy remarked that we all think along different lines and agreed that we have brought a lot of the financial aspect into the matter. "I can't say", he asserted, "if there will be improvements or not . . . barring miracles, no one can look into the future. As I look at it, it is the law of cause and effect. In my understanding of the law of cause and effect Coleman will lose.

We will lose the control of what we want in education. We are proud of what we are producing in our high school. We have paid high taxes for education and now we will have two on a board of seven. With two men, what can the community press for education? We have satisfactory education and I doubt if we will be able to hold it. If the government forces us into the division, we should fight it to the last for representation by population subject to review every five years. It is not fair that we with 4000 people are to have two trustees, while another town with 2,000 would also get two. This way we will lose the contact with our schools. A review every five years would be fair. If we lose our population we should not have the representation, but should some population shift from the other points to Coleman, they should see a change in representation.

Pete Meronuk followed Mayor Abousafy stating that we say that Coleman is 100% against the division, but we don't know for sure. "I favor the idea that Coleman stay as it is, but I feel that we should know our true position and suggest that we use the petition as suggested, organize it properly and canvass every house. If we fail and the government goes through with the plan, then we should fight for representation by population."

McL Dunford asked if the board did not have the right to hold a plebiscite without the government approval. The chairman explained that they had been told that there was no authority to hold a plebiscite. Steve Penney further clarified this by saying that he asked if the government when passing legislation to provide for the division could not provide for the allowing of a plebiscite. "They did not answer" Mr. Penney asserted.

Mrs. J. Iwasaki asked if we did not have a democracy. The people have a right to vote, she stated.

A DeLuca asked what the lawyer's opinion of the meeting was to which the chairman replied by reading a letter from Mr. Virtue, wherein he stated that he felt the government was going to institute the plan which would work hardships on Coleman. If it does, Mr. Virtue wrote, make sure your high standards are maintained.

Considerable discussion followed centering around the same ideas coming to a climax when Trustee Penney said, "We should fight it. If we are beat, we will be beat fighting. We should not just take it sitting down."

Pete Meronuk moved that a committee be appointed to look after the circulation of a petition, seconded by E.R. Kennedy. From this motion, a committee of five, P. Meronuk, A. Montalbetti, J. Wavrean, W. Dutil and S. Penney was formed. This committee met following the meeting to lay plans for their action.

THE PIASECKI H21A HELICOPTER, six of which will be delivered to the RCAP early in the new year. One of the largest helicopters now being built, the Piasecki H21A is fitted with omnibus-type landing gear, capable of landing on snow, swamp, land or water, and will be used by the RCAP for rescue operations. Over 52 feet in length, with twin-motors driven by a single high-horsepower engine, the cabin of the Piasecki H21A can be fitted with either 12 litters or 20 seats.

HOCKEY? — Battling fans are Canadian hockey players in the recent National Hockey League game in New York. The fracas started when a spectator threw a bottle at Boom Boom Geoffrion as he left the ice with a match penalty for hitting Ranger leftwinger Ron Murphy with his stick. Murphy, who had first slugged Geoffrion with a stick, opening a nasty four-inch gash, also drew a match penalty.

NEW GUN FOR CANADIAN ARMY—Announcement that five North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries have agreed to the standardization of small arms ammunition means that the Canadian Army will have to part company with an "old friend"—the 303 rifle it has used for 57 years. Its replacement will probably be the Belgian 30 calibre "Fabrique Nationale", shown at top above. It is described as a light automatic rifle. The lower weapon is the standard Lee Enfield 303 now in use in the Canadian and British armies.

NEW GOVERNOR OF BAHAMAS AND FAMILY—The Earl of Ranfurly, newly-appointed Governor of the Bahama Islands, his wife, and their daughter, Caroline, pose with the family pets aboard the liner Arcadia on their recent arrival in New York en route to Nassau. Lord Ranfurly, who at 40 will be the youngest governor in the history of the Bahamas, holds Billy, a Pekingese, while Koko, a parrot, rests on the shoulder of his wife.

NEW NAVAL BADGE—This badge, designed at Naval Headquarters, will soon be available for wear by ex-members of the naval forces of Canada. To be known as the Former Naval Personnel Badge, it may be worn by all former naval officers, men and women who have been honorably released from the service. The badge is to be reproduced only in metal, suitable for wear in the left lapel button hole, or embroidered for wear on the left breast pocket of blazers and jackets. Reproduction of the badge for any other purposes must have the approval of Naval Headquarters. The former Naval Personnel Badge features a gold anchor set in a circle of navy blue. Ten gold maple leaves surround the circle, atop of which rests the naval crown. The crown "jewels", left to right, are red, green, blue, green and red.

G. W. WILDBLOOD, manager, The Cunard Steam-Ship Company Limited, Vancouver, who will retire at the end of this year after 51 years in the transportation business. Mr. Wildblood, who was born in England in 1888, came to Canada in September, 1900. He started his business career on April 20, 1903, as an office boy with the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal. After eight years in the Rail department, on May 1, 1911, he was transferred to the Steamship department. Mr. Wildblood resigned as Chief Clerk on March 1, 1914, to accept a position with the Robert Reford Company, then the General Agents in Canada for Cunard and Donaldson Lines. During the First World War, Mr. Wildblood had charge of all troop embarkations at Montreal, Quebec, Saint John and Halifax for Cunard and Donaldson Lines and at the end of the war he was appointed Assistant Passenger Manager at Montreal. He held this post until March, 1929, when he was transferred to Toronto as Passenger Traffic Manager. On March 1, 1948, Mr. Wildblood was appointed manager in Vancouver, with charge over the British Columbia territory.

KEEN QUEEN — Lovely Dorothy Albury, 19, of Islamorada, Fla., carries a basket of limes as a memento of the title she recently won in Florida. The shapely miss was named Queen of Upper Keys Lime Festival.

"SWAN SONG"—An alert duck has been immortalized in marble in the quiet university town of Freiburg, Germany. The statue honors the barnyard bird that ran squawking through the city on Nov. 27, 1944, rousing residents minutes before a surprise Allied air attack. After the raid, its crumpled body was found beside a bomb crater.

THIRTEEN'S A CROWD—"Heide" has her troubles, as the lines on her face plainly reveal. The Boxer has 13 pups, but only the conventional eight milk outlets. So the puppies have to eat in shifts to get a share of the food. Helping Heide with her king-sized feeding problem is her mistress, seven-year-old Nancy Stadler of Salina, Kan.

TO TELL THE TOOTH I expect to get some more a little later on but as I told my mother it isn't every five-weeks-old lady who has one tooth. If you don't believe it's real, come around and I'll bite you, to prove it.

A WATCHDOG?—The picture of weariness is Duke, a 10-year-old English bulldog, as he awaits the return of his motorist-owner, Oscar Wickman, in Seattle. Wickman swears Duke is a first-class watchdog; he just likes his catnaps.

LIGHTER AND SHORTER — A new lightweight jeep, small enough to be carried in an aircraft, goes on display beside a standard army model. The bobtailed vehicle is 100 inches long and weighs 1,475 pounds—three feet shorter and 1,200 pounds lighter than the regular model. The little runabout has an aluminum body, magnesium wheels and a plastic windshield.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY —

Mr. Hoskins Rides

By Jim Tolces

THE street car ride home was a nightmare Hoskins should have been used to after fifteen years. But it wasn't. He was first at his car stop that night. The next car was picking up passengers four blocks away at the post office. Half aloud, he vowed he would get a seat or he'd walk home.

"Le too!" peeped a birdlike falsetto at his elbow. It was Toups, his next door neighbor, who worked next to him in stock control. So far as Hoskins could remember, neither of them had ever held a seat all the way.

"Tonight, I mean it!" He said it so vehemently he started even himself. "I won't be glared out of my seat by a late-shopping female who should already be home cooking dinner."

He glared against encroachment.

THE TILLERS

on his position of advantage. Toups glared too. A few glared back. Now started the familiar pushing movement. The resentful glances of outraged womanhood. Hoskins stood pat, certain the car would stop to his liking. The car grated past, jammed.

Hoskins groaned. "We'll never get a seat with this crowd." He saw silent laughter in Toups' eyes.

"The next car is almost empty," Toups said, "we'll get a seat."

It grinded to a stop. Hoskins stumbled on, his face extended, Toups behind him. They sat facing the aisle on the front platform.

The throng swarmed on. Hoskins shut his eyes and ears, repressing intentions of giving in and getting up. Especially when the big woman with package-cluttered arms took a stance over him which was both belligerent and wistful. Hanging to a strap, she loathed him completely. Hoskins was conscious of Toups' critical eyes. He pretended interest in the headlines of a nearby paper.

Standing over Toups, casting melting glances, was a blonde, young woman. He wouldn't mind, Hoskins thought. If she said, "No," his eyes shouted at Toups, "we'll ride seated!"

The car was besieged again at the next stop. Hoskins felt the amazon breathing down his neck. I don't care if I have to stand up the rest of my life, he thought a little frantically. Besides, other men were seated.

"You—you—!" the big woman screamed with her eyes. "You manless thing!" he retorted in kind. "Fifteen years yielding to the likes of you. Can't I ride seated one night? Pick on some other man!"

I know whose seat I want," he growled.

One stop before Government Street, Hoskins thought miserably. This cov has been beaten. Defeated again. I don't care who gets the seat just so I get free of her.

He began to despair. He thought, with desperate cunning, how he might give up without breaking faith with Toups. He was afraid to look at Toups squarely.

"On, Lord! I forgot!"

"Forgot what?" asked Toups, elevating.

"The cake—" It could have been a cake, he thought.

"Government Street bus," the operator bawled. Hoskins gratefully spied the sign on the corner bakery.

He bolted out of his seat without looking back, dimly hearing Toups' cry of dismay.

"How about that bakery around our own corner?" Toups called through the open window, laughing openly.

Gingerly holding his cake, Hoskins boarded the next car. He wedged himself between two men on the back platform. Secretly he hoped the cake would get squashed before he got home. Mary wouldn't have any use for it. She did all her own baking. He wouldn't be able to eat a mouthful himself without remembering how the big woman had hypnotized him. The next five stops were agony. He would, he promised himself fervently, keep his seat all the way in the morning.

"Lafayette Boulevard," the operator called.

The last person to climb in was Toups. Lamey, he lifted a paper bag for Hoskins to see.

"Frog to stop for Annie, myself," he mumbled. Then he saluted himself down silently beside Hoskins.

"So help me," hissed Hoskins. "I'll get a seat in the morning or I'll walk."

"Me too!" said Toups. (Copyright Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate)

Two old timers were discussing a mutual friend. Said one, musingly, "Poor old Herb seems to be living in the past."

The other answered briskly: "Why not? It's a lot cheaper."

"He was always of an inquiring turn of mind—wanted to get inside things."

"Where is he now?"

"Inside a prison for getting inside a bank."

"You're looking bad, old man. What's the trouble?"

"Domestic."

"But you always said your wife was a peach?"

"So she is. It's the mother-of-pearl that's the trouble."

Hostess: This is Captain Banks who has just returned from the Arctic regions.

Pretty Guest: "Oh do come nearer the fire—you must be cold."

"The lift was crowded and the lift girl was about to close the gates when she accidentally stepped on the foot of a very stout and over-dressed woman."

"You clumsy girl!" snapped the latter. "Do you think my feet were made for a fool to walk on?"

The lift attendant gazed at her a moment and then replied: "I should imagine so, madam."

A Canadian from the shores of the mighty St. Lawrence had been visiting relatives in Richmond. Among other wonders of the neighborhood, they showed him the Thames, hoping to impress him.

"Where shall we go today?" inquired his uncle of the Canadian one afternoon as they prepared to set out for a stroll.

"I know," he answered brightly, "let's go round by the brook."

Seven-Mile-High Air Base Designed By N.Y. Engineer

By Franklin Johnson (CPC Correspondent)

NEW YORK.—A consulting engineer, the president of the New York Society of Engineers, has designed and advocates immediate construction of a seven-mile-high tower which will pierce the stratosphere and give the United States an airport for jet planes far above the clouds.

He is Morris Berman, who warns western hemisphere defense planners that the 10-minute advantage which a squadron of jet fighters would have in taking off from a stratospheric platform upon the first warning that enemy atom bombers are on the way could mean the difference between successful interception and virtually total destruction of the world's largest city.

Berman bristles at any suggestion that his idea is fantastic. He has meticulously calculated the expense of the gigantic structure, and finds it to be $500 million, which is in line with an atomic age flat-top aircraft carrier.

The huge tower, which would be the most amazing structure ever built by man, would weigh 1,600,000 tons and have to be rounded on bedrock. However, this tremendous weight is not out of line with existing skyscrapers because the tower would be light for its tremendous size.

The principal material used would be steel of the type used in plane wings, laminated and made into tubes. Engineer Berman says that it is available today and that officials of the U.S. government should give the project priority.

The main components of the construction would be four tubular legs or piers, which would be cross braced all the way to the top. It would be 25 times the height of the Empire State building and more than a mile higher.

Since it is available today and that officials of the U.S. government should give the project priority.

Editorially SPEAKING

Guest Editorial . . . Favors Large School Division For Coleman

The provincial government's announced intention of forming a school division throughout the Crow's Nest Pass has brought education to the fore in the minds of many.

It is indeed unfortunate that the manner of presentation of these proposals by the provincial government authorities has been somewhat blunt and without sufficient consideration and consultation with the local citizens. The taxpayer has felt, with justification, that his opinions are being ignored; the result, an over emotional approach to a very important question.

It would most certainly behoove the rate-payers of those towns affected to give their closest attention to the long range aspects of our children's education. Let the facts speak for themselves.

Educational costs in Coleman have risen approximately 110 per cent since 1940. This, in spite of every effort to economy. Economy which has deprived us of fully adequate buildings, economy achieved at the expense of an adequate salary schedule, economy achieved by the dropping of courses, economy achieved by the abandonment of household economies causes; economy achieved at the greatest economy of all. A little bit too little, a little bit too late for everything.

We need not look to blaming one another. Rather, consider the position of our school boards in the last number of years. An ever increasing cost, chained to a largely static base of taxation. The wonder is that this tying down of the valve has not resulted in the blowing up of the whole system years ago.

The breakdown of the present system of taxation for education does indeed show itself more in the other towns of the Pass, whose educational facilities have greatly deteriorated. Coleman is headed along the same road. Fifteen years of prosperity may have slowed the process. Ingenious school boards have applied the sedative of temporary solutions, but the problem grows ever larger and larger. What are we going to do in the next fifteen years? What if the next fifteen years are not prosperous?

Shall we keep our buildings as they are for fifteen years, or widen the basis of taxation? Shall we cut the teachers' salaries, or widen the basis of taxation? Shall we drop and ignore those courses which we once held in high esteem, or widen the basis of taxation? Shall we chisel a little off this child, a little off that lot or widen the basis of taxation?

Widen the basis of taxation—for that is what the school divisions amount to. A wider basis of taxation, wider than Coleman can ever provide with its few streets of cottages and three or four blocks of wooden, frame business buildings.

Another item which might well be widened is Coleman's mental approach to the whole problem of co-operation with our neighbours. Their children have suffered more than ours as a result of this antiquated system of undergrown, undernourished local schools. That does not call for giving the neighboring towns a kick, which will land only on our own children. Admittedly, the situation calls for headbashed dickering for our own benefit, but emotional parading of too easily damaged egos will not achieve any improvement in the schooling of our youth. Let us strive for the best in schools, not just a bit better than the next fellow.

EDITOR'S NOTE — The foregoing item was turned into the Journal to be inserted as a guest editorial. We feel that the two sides of the question should be aired and will gladly publish any constructive articles providing they are signed.

Our READERS Say

Pincher Creek, Alta.,
January 23, 1954

Dear Sir:

Words are sometimes misleading. A word misunderstood may change the meaning of a statement. A word omitted, unheard or forgotten may cause well-meaning people to jump to quite wrong conclusions.

Judging from your editorial of January 13 and the news reports on which it was based, I think something like that must have happened to some words of mine. Regarding a public meeting about the proposed school division, your news report says: "when contacted Edmonton regarding a meeting for Coleman, Mr. McKay stated that he had been informed that none would be held."

It is, of course, impossible for any of us to know the exact words which I may have used in the telephone conversation; but the facts are as follows: The Minister and Deputy Minister of Education had proposed to meet the combined school boards on Tuesday evening and a combined public meeting on Wednesday evening. Neither the Bellevue-Hillcrest board nor the Blairmore board showed any great enthusiasm for the public meeting (quite different, I think from the expression "turned down the idea" of your page 1, column 3). At no time was I informed from Edmonton that no meeting would be held; but only that the plan for a joint meeting on January 13 had been given up — surely a very different thing from the imputations in your news columns and in the editorial of January 13th.

It seems unfortunate that nobody thought to check the basic facts before drawing conclusions about a supposed "refusal" to hold a public meeting. Truly words are tricky things.

James A. McKay,
Inspector of Schools.

Editors Note: The first time we heard the statement re no public meeting was at a school board meeting, an organization that has always been reliable in the past.

When this statement was challenged at the Blairmore meeting, the local secretary repeated what she had been told. The Inspector failed to challenge this statement thus making it appear authentic.

Some months ago the Journal printed an article regarding the post office in Coleman, showing some hopes of a new one to serve our needs. Since that time little or nothing has been heard in this regard.

Checking the matter the other day we had the following article brought to our attention. Maybe the secrecy has mentioned in the article is the reason that we have not heard anything definite despite the action of the Board of Trade and other interested parties.

Building Backlog In Public Works

OTTAWA—The Department of Public Works will have a basket item in this year's estimates of about $500,000 for acquisition of land and advance planning of construction.

Purchase for the most part will be in the smaller centres and will be done quietly. There is no suggestion that the purpose of the purchase can be kept secret but there will be no commitment to build this year, next year or even the year after that. In part, advance planning may be projected five or six years ahead.

What will be done within the department is to bring the building to blueprint stage ready for the award of the contract before any vote for the building is put in the estimates.

Under the present system a lump sum is voted for a specific building including the land before any plans are under way. Depending on the construction there may be a delay of from six months or to two years between the purchase of land and the start of construction and all this time impatient protests are being received from the municipalities.

In addition to providing a more orderly planning of public works, the new scheme can work as an economic stabilizer in something the same manner as was originally envisaged for the "projects shelf" of the Department of Resources and Development.

During years of prosperity and possible inflation pressures, the department will be building up a file of blueprints in all parts of Canada, with construction held back except on the most urgent projects.

In the case of a recession, pump priming through the public works department could be hastened by months and could also be allocated quickly to particular localities where the need might be most urgent.

Steadily falling snow for the past week just about stopped all activity in the town by the week end. Mines suffered shut-downs, homes and businesses faced below-zero weather with diminishing coal supplies, and snow removal crews saw their work piling up day by day.

Greyhound buses were temporarily stalled and CPR train service started running behind. The Crow's Nest Lake proved the big stumbling block again, preventing buses from proceeding west. Saturday, Greyhound buses were forced to transfer their passengers to the CPR. Travel to the west had been stopped as the result of a slide that had brought down tons of snow and rock to block the road and tear down telephone lines. Highway crews worked hard clearing the first slide, only to have further troubles call them back again.

The break-down of the town plow during the height of the storm resulted in the work piling up and deliveries of coal and groceries greatly curtailed. Sam Segoff's cat was called into service Saturday and soon had the main part of the town fairly well cleaned.

Juveniles Take Measure of Bellevue For Second Time

Coleman Juveniles buried Bellevue under a 16-6 deluge Sunday to take two straight from the visiting club. Jimmy Evans' crew had won a rough contest at Bellevue last Sunday by a 6-2 count. Coached by George Zwolinski, the Bellevue club resorted to boarding and hard hitting in an effort to slow down the lighter, flying Coleman sextette. Acting on the advice of their coach, the locals played their game away from the boards, substituting brute strength with heady plays.

Leading 7-3 in the first and 11-6 in the second, the Evans club displayed hustle and teamwork that harried the Bellevue club for a full 60 minutes. A few defensive mudsides and over-anxious moments around the nets caused the score to be lower than it could have been.

Watching the display of teamwork, it would be unfair to extol the abilities of any one player or group of players, the statistics showing only those in on the scoring plays, but not the effort that started the play off. This Coleman club earlier unanimously voted down a Bellevue suggestion that an all-star team be formed from the Pass, knowing that on paper the Bellevue club was reported to possess all the heavy artillery. Not content to believe what they see on paper and determined to play as a unit, win or lose, the boys have worked up a team that should go far along the playoff trail.

Hustling Walt Tymchyna was forced to leave the contest in the second stanza as the result of a cracked nose from being slashed. SUMMARY:

1st — Coleman goals: Beltor, 1:55; Beltor (Flewich) 8:10; Flewich (Beltor) 9:15; Wilkie, 11:10; Beltor (Flewich) 16:15; Tarcon, 18:30; Tarcon (Flewich) 19:40.

Bellevue goals, Anderson, 2:15; Stefan (MacDonald) 5:55; Squirk (Stefano) 14:40.

2nd — Coleman goals, Kuchty, 3:00; Tarcon (Beltor) 13:45; Tarcon (Beltor) 15:05; Kuchty (Flewich) 16:50; Penalties, Flewich, Rasmussen.

Bellevue goals MacDonald (Scodellaro) 8:40; Scodellaro (MacDonald) 16:05; Scodellaro, 18:30. Penalties: Melnick, Stefana, Melnick.

3rd — Coleman goals, Beltor (Flewich) 3; Kuchty (Beltor) 4:00; Tarcon (Flewich) 5:55; Tarcon (Flewich) 17:15; Beltor (Tarcon, Flewich) 17:30.

Bellevue — No score.

Michel-Natal Win Three Straight

After suffering a blistering defeat at the hands of Cranbrook in their opening game, the Michel-Natal Coal Kings have made a clean sweep of their next three contests. Dropping Bellevue in the second game, the Coalers proved that it was no mistake by handing them another licking in the third contest. Riding on a crest of victory, the Coalers proceeded to hand Fernie a licking in their first appearance this year.

Hockey Notes

Sunday's contest shows the need for more seasoned referees for the minor hockey. We have no fault to find with the youngsters that handled the game, but do think that an older, more seasoned official would keep the game a little better in hand. The injury to Tymchyna was, from our view, intentional, while many of the plays on the boards should have been called. Crashing, boarding and holding after a player has passed or lost the puck tends to wear on tempers and someday a more serious accident will be caused. When youngsters are being coached to these tactics, it is more important that strict officiating is around to curb it before hockey goes the way of lacrosse.

Our hat is off to coach Jimmie Evans who told his boys between the second and third period to stay away from the boards and play hockey with your heads. This action to prevent injury to his players showed Jimmie's interest in his team. Five seconds after his remark the kids pulled off the smartest play of the game. From that point they used their skill rather than trying to mix it. From that point Bellevue failed to score a goal. With coaching of this type we may see the return of heady hockey rather than the shot in the corner, clutch and grab stuff of the past few years.

Road Conditions Cut Entries At Ski Meet

Only seventeen skiers entered the Provincial Slalom competition held at Blairmore the attendance being small, due chiefly to the poor road conditions. The meet was scheduled to feature the provincial slalom, downhill and combined, but the latter two events were cancelled due to the heavy snow fall of Saturday night. Heavy snow made the hill slow and those in charge of the meet took the time average on two runs to determine the winners. Peter Van Wagner, instructor at the Banff Ski School held out the course, Dave Spence, President of the Western Ski Association, and Gerry Blackburn, Southern Alberta director of the association handled the meet.

Judges and timers for the meet were: Gerry Blackburn and D. Spence, of Banff, Mrs. Van Wagner, Banff, K. Thornton, M. Aschacher and Doctor Burman of Blairmore, and Dick Lingard, of Coleman. Class A Senior 1. Ross Maxwell, Banff, 1:27 2/5 Don Hayes of Banff was dis-

United Church Congregational Meeting Hears Encouraging Reports

Despite the inclement weather, a large number turned out to the congregational meeting of St. Paul's United Church Monday, January 18th. Reports were heard from the various organizations, showing a very active and encouraging year.

Mission Band

This report, given by the leader Mrs. Vera McQuarrie, and Miss Wynne Dunford showed that the group had an enrolment of 25 doing considerable work at their 16 meetings.

Tyros

The Tyros report showed 20 members holding 12 meetings during which the boys have learned handicraft and the Tyro aims and principals.

Explorers

There was no representative of this group headed by Mrs. Johnson at the meeting with the result that a report of activities was not given. The groups financial report was accepted. C.G.I.T.

Gail Murdoch presented the C.G.I.T. financial report, while Gail Vincent gave a report of activities. Miss Hurlbut is group leader. Couples Club

The report given by Mrs. Dunford showed this organization in a good position, the organ fund showing a total of $1,455.52. W.M.S.

Mrs. Dunford reported for this group showing that the allocation had been over-subscribed and that $25, had been sent as the allocation for Coleman for the Girls Training School in Toronto. Mrs. Owen reported on the activities, showing nine meetings held, representation to meetings, and supply work completed. This latter report showed that 295 parcels of used clothing had been collected and shipped to Korea.

During the year 173 home calls and 199 hospital calls were made. Study Group

Highlighting the study group report presented by Mrs. Owen was the matter that the group had been able to provide an electric stove for the kitchen. It was pointed out that labor for installation had been donated by S. Murdoch.

Goodwill W.A. Mrs. Vera McQuarrie and Mrs. Fontana reported for this new group showing a good start in their first year. The group have supplied the church with flowers and assisted in other church activities during the year. As part of their meetings, they have held demonstrations in cooking. W.A.

This report presented by Mrs. Owen showed that many objectives had been reached but that the obligations of the W.A. were becoming too great for the small group. Realizing this, they had written the Goodwill W.A. asking if they would be willing to assume these obligations. The Goodwill W.A. accepted and the senior group will remain as a body dedicated to obtaining pews for the church.

Sunday School

This report was presented by L. Owen and voiced regrets at losing Mr. and Mrs. Dickieson, at the same time thanking Mr. Murdoch and Miss Patricia Parker for stepping in to help. The Sunday School reported another good year.

Treasurer's Report

A true sign of a successful year was shown in Mel Dunford's treasurer's report. Mr. Dunford pointed out that the allocation for St. Stephen's College was complete and all expenses met, leaving a balance.

Pastoral Committee

In the pastoral committee report was shown that since Miss Hurlbut had decided to go on with the full time work of the church, and that she was anxious to continue her studies, the board should put in the call for a minister early. Regret was voiced that Miss Hurlbut felt that she could not stay another year.

New Officers

New officers for the coming year were appointed at this meeting and are as listed:

Trustees: Mr. McKinnon, Mr. Antrobus, Mr. McQuarrie.

Property Committee to be the same as last year.

Board of Stewards: W. Antrobus, M. Dunford, B. Bond, W. Wilson, L. Owen and A. McQuarrie for three years period. Treasurer: J. Allan Jr.

Former Army Officer Receives Praise Of Fire Chief

The work of Lieut. George King, Salvation Army Officer, during a fire at Grande Prairie has resulted in high praise from the fire chief at that point. Lieut. and Mrs. King were officers in charge of the local corps for a short time this year.

Fire Chief Pete Bagar paid tribute to the Salvation Army for the role they played during the battle against the fire which destroyed a Richmond avenue building last week.

He had a particular word of tribute for Lieut. George King, head of the Salvation Army here, who distributed hot coffee to the firemen during the battle against the fire and their night-long vigil over the smouldering ruins.

"He not only kept the boys on the ground supplied but he was climbing up ladders to bring coffee to the men on the roof," the fire chief said: "It was really appreciated."

Population Of Canada Has Gone Over Fifteen Million

OTTAWA. — Canada's population has passed the 15,000,000 mark. At confederation in 1867 there were 3,000,000 and 5,300,000 in 1901. Government experts estimate the milestone was reached recently, either at the end of November or early in December, but the complex job of compiling figures now is under way and a bureau of statistics report likely will be issued early in the new year.

Thus Canada, now one of the world's great trading powers, has made a fivefold population expansion since she officially came into being 86 years ago.

Though still small in numbers compared to other world powers, Canada almost tripled her population in the first half of this century. Many officials predict she may triple them again to about 45,000,000 in the next half. In comparison Britain currently has about 50,000,000 persons; the United States 160,000,000.

For Canada, with her vast areas of rugged dry terrain, population progress was slow at the start. In the 1871-81 decade she gained a mere 700,000.

The biggest advance came in the post-war years when the population rose by about 3,000,000 in the eight years 1945-53. She gained 1,600,000 in the last three years.

Part of the increase has come from immigration and from Newfoundland's entry into confederation four years ago, giving Canada another 350,000.

But the major source was natural expansion. Experts estimate that in the century 1851-1951, births exceeded deaths by 11,000,000.

Immigration has long been considered as one of the major sources of new citizens. But the figures show that for many years the number of Canadians who left Canada just about matched new entries.

In the 1901-10 decade, for example, Canada got 1,752,000 new citizens, but lost 1,067,000 Canadians through emigration. In the following decade she gained 1,582,000 new ones and lost 1,490,000 old ones.

In the 1931-41 decade she lost more than she gained. About 262,000 emigrated and only 149,000 entered the country. In latter years, however, the tide has been stemmed. In 1941-51, entries of 558,000 more than matched exits of 380,000 immigrants and lost 114,000 citizens.

Almost to the very last the chosen Twelve were quarrelling about place and preference. Even at the Last Supper in the Upper Room Jesus had still to teach them the lesson of humility and service by washing their feet.

It seems remarkable that those chosen by Jesus, men of initiative, intelligence and daring, should so seriously have failed to grasp His teaching and understand His mission and purpose.

Their hearts and wills were in the right place, but their minds were blinded by the intensity of their ambition and their vision of glory in an earthly kingdom.

They did not understand Him when He said, "My kingdom is not of this world."

But in the aftermath they understood, as the Comforter brought to their remembrance all that Jesus was, said and did. Under that spiritual guidance and remembrance they became what Jesus had intended.

It was John, whose mother had asked permission for him and who had thereby accepted the indignation of his brethren, who was to express evidence of the effectiveness and power of the Gospel.

"We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren."

We have the advantage of knowing the Master as John first knew Him, but also John came to know Him with the fullness of love and insight.

APPETIZING RECIPES

Canapes add such a gala touch to your home entertaining, and here is a selection featuring fish. Starting at the upper right and going clockwise are: Shrimp Canapes, Anchovy Canapes, Pickled Herring and Onions, Salmon Pate, Sardine Devilled Eggs, Roly Polys, Smoked Oyster Savories and Anchovy Rolls.

Fish Canapes—Shrimp Canapes: with a little chopped parsley and from slices of bread (and using over this a little sifted hard-cooked egg yolk. Place a slice of stuffed olive in the centre. An alternate arrangement suitable when the shrimps are a little larger, is to place four shrimps with one end of each at the centre of the canape. Top with chopped parsley and the egg yolk, but not olive slice. Place shrimps counter the outer edge of canape. Sprinkle clockwise.

Ottawa Sharing Compensation Costs For Alta. Defence Workers

OTTAWA.—Civil defence workers in Alberta have been brought under coverage of the Workmen's Compensation Act for death or injury incurred during training or exercises, by virtue of an agreement between the federal government and the province.

Hon. Paul Martin, federal minister responsible for civil defence, announced recently he and Hon. C. E. Gehring, Alberta's Provincial Secretary and Minister of Municipal Affairs, had signed an agreement to share the cost of Workmen's Compensation benefits to civil defence workers while engaged in training measures designed to "protect and preserve life, property and public services against any form of enemy attack or to minimize damage therefrom."

The agreement defines a civil defence worker as "any person duly enrolled with the provincial civil defence co-ordinator for and while actually engaged in civil defence work."

Alberta is the third province to enter into such an agreement with Ottawa, Ontario and British Columbia having already taken advantage of a federal government offer to share the cost of such compensation with the provinces.

In announcing the Alberta agreement, Mr. Martin noted that the federal treasury will pay the province one half of amounts which it awards to civil defence workers under the Workmen's Compensation Act. Extension of such protection civil defence volunteers, it was noted had an important bearing on enlistment of men and women by provincial and local authorities for service in agencies to be trained and equipped to deal with disaster.

The Grand Canyon in Arizona is a varicolored fissure 217 miles long, 4 to 18 miles wide and 4,000 to 5,500 feet deep.

Weekly Tip
TAN COLORS
Tan-colored garments and stockings often fade to a brownish yellow when they are laundered. To avoid this, add a small quantity of dye of the proper shade, to the last rinsing water.

Ten Word INTELLIGRAM
Check correct word.

1. The Grand Canyon is in (Arizona) (Nevada).
2. "My cup runneth over" is in Psalm (23) (44).
3. (Magellan) (Balboa) named the Pacific Ocean.
4. The giraffe (does) (does not) utter sounds.
5. (Three) (four) children of Henry VIII sat on the English throne.
6. Aelurophobia is a morbid fear of (nightmares) (cats).
7. There are (several) (no) volcanoes in Alaska.
8. Ice (is) (is not) heavier than water.
9. (Polk) (Taylor) succeeded Tyler to the presidency in 1845.
10. The romance languages are derived from (Greek) (Latin).

Check your answers, scoring yourself 10 points for each correct answer. A score of 0-20 is poor; 20-60, average; 70-80, superior; 80-100, very superior.

Rapid Recovery Routine

WHENEVER you do feel especially tired after a tough workout you can help recover more quickly and thoroughly if you do the following things:

(1) Make sure your after-effort meal is high in the foods providing protein, natural carbohydrates and alkaline reserve. Such foods are lean meat, eggs, cheese and milk for protein; honey for energy and fresh fruits, especially citrus fruits, for alkaline reserve. The alkaline foods, incidentally, help combat the acid condition of the body developed from hard muscle effort. If very tired a cup or two of very strong tea or coffee sweetened with honey will help a great deal.

(2) Give your body a good stretching so as to loosen up those tight, shortened-up muscles.

(3) Go for a slow, easy walk, breathing deeply all the time, just before you go to bed.

(4) Just before you go to bed have a hot bath and then a hot drink—warm milk is best.

(5) After you get into bed breathe slowly and each time you exhale try to let yourself go limp all over.

Finally, remember this, if you know you have exerted yourself to an exceptional degree during a workout the application of cold towels to an ice bag to your heart area for 15 to 20 minutes before you leave the dressing room as soon as you get home will do a great deal to hasten your full recovery. Incidentally, all the recovery tricks listed here apply also any time you are very tired, athlete or not.

Pass Break
One of the most common individual offensive faults of the average player is going to sleep after he makes a pass to a free team mate. In other words, the player makes the pass and then watches to see what happens without taking any further offensive action.

Tip For School Athletes
If you take your lunch to school be sure your sandwiches are made from either whole grain or enriched white bread. Remember, enriched white bread contains vitamins "B" and iron, two nutritional "musts" for athletes.

On The Side E. V. Durling

Have you a magnifying glass? Everybody should have one handy so it will remind them to read the fine print in contracts. Was interested in noting a dispatch concerning a woman who had saved herself a large sum of money by very carefully reading the fine print in a contract. Why have fine print in contracts? Is it to save space, or is it inspired by a hope that the part of the contract it deals with will not be read? Or, am I too suspicious?

Solo Breakfasts
Sir Winston Churchill says the secret of a happy marriage is never to have breakfast with your wife. Keep that in mind, sir. Have your wife bring you your breakfast in bed and let her have her morning meal in the peace and the quiet of the breakfast nook.

Dog's Life by Air
Dogs should get a better break when travelling by air. Horses make plane trips in comfort. Dogs make such trips under horrible conditions. On most airlines the dog is tossed into a small cage and left there throughout the trip. Even on coast to coast trips, nobody even gives the poor animal a drink of water.

Reason for Marriage
Why did you marry your wife? Asked that question, Richard Rogers, the brilliant composer, said he was first attracted by the girl's beauty and his interest was directed to the point of proposing by her understanding of business. Especially his business. He still talks everything over with his wife. In this connection, Mr. Rogers observed, "To be able to discuss workaday affairs in a domestic atmosphere is a splendid approach to the deeper emotions."

Necessity Is Mother of Invention
Clever females continue to prove erroneous the claim that women are never good inventors. A London woman, Mrs. Pamela Hickey, has just invented a bit of protective attire known as the "bunny nose mask." This is to be used as protection against London's so-called "killer fog." This mask can be made in any color and is somewhat more attractive than the average mask. Thousands are being sold in London. There is also a "bunny nose mask" made especially for dogs. Seems last time the "killer fog" struck London many dogs were killed by it.

Pair and Spare
That "pair and a spare" glove idea of mine is practical after all. The sarcastic remarks concerning it made by some subscribers were unjustified. All that is necessary is to have the gloves reversible. In that way the spare glove can be made to fit either hand.

Small Investment — Big Return
In his palace in Cairo, King Farouk had over 100 electric razors. He shaved six times a day. In London, recently, a man bought a football pool coupon for seven cents and with it won a prize of the equivalent of $120,000. Some long shot. No wonder the British go wild over football pools.
